Keith Sharp
Founder, CEO

A native of Huntsville, Alabama, Keith Sharp started his successful career at just five years old, when his dad sat him by a pile of pumpkins and said, "sell." He's been making profitable deals in Huntsville ever since. A graduate of the University of Alabama in Huntsville, Keith quickly figured out that the house he bought to make a home could actually be flipped for a profit. After 500 subsequent real estate deals, the Sharp family owns 80 million dollars of real estate. Keith's ambition has led to a number of company holdings, the details of which can be found at sharpcompanies.com. Keith started Sharp Auction Engine when he found he was dissatisfied with online auction software systems as they were. Once he determined that he had both the resources and tech talent to build a better platform, he assembled a team and put them to work.

Carolyn Williamson
Co-Founder, Director of Operations

Carolyn received her Master's degree from the University of Alabama in Huntsville, where she studied Business Administration and Marketing. Having experience as both an auctioneer and a real estate agent, Carolyn brings the skill and perspective needed to craft a superior auction software solution. Working closely with Keith from its inception, Carolyn has coordinated Sharp Auction Engine's development and entry into the market by recruiting a talented team of advanced tech professionals who continue to improve the robust nature of the platform.
